The elegant city of Rzeszow is both old and young, at once a historically important regional centre and a vibrant student town. Today a progressive economic, academic and cultural hub of southeastern Poland, it was long considered no more than a transport hub and obligatory stopover, but visitors are opening their eyes and without exception letting themselves be surprised by the city's allure, with fine museums, a lovely old quarter, affordable shopping and cosmopolitan vibes wrapped in small town charm.

THE CITY

Andrzej Rostek / Shutterstock.com

Standing astride the river Wislok and tucked among the Carpathian mountain range, the city of Rzeszów divides into two completely distinct areas.

On the one hand there is the Strodmiescie district, the old part of the city, which abounds with history and tradition, while the surrounding new city stands as a testament to the city's rapid expansion during the 1950's and 1960's.

The surrounding new town is home to many of the city's administrative and commercial buildings, as well as the universities that house the 50,000 students that help to create such a youthful and modern vibe to this historic city.

DO & SEE

BestPhotoStudio / Shutterstock.com

The close proximity to the Carpathian mountain range grants a rare beauty to the area, and there are many outdoor activities to explore. But you cannot neglect the charming Old Town and the vibrancy of this city. Admire historical landmarks, like the Lubomirski Palace, the two synagogues and the stunning market square, or visit some of the city's fine museums.

The Market Square

The Market Square is truly a feast of 16th-20th century architecture, surrounded by the oldest parts of the city. Here you can find the particularly striking Town Hall and an old well. It is the beating heart of the city, hosting, among other things, regular markets and events.

DINING

gkrphoto / Shutterstock.com

Due to its geographical position, Polish cuisine has absorbed the influences of the cultures and countries surrounding it and transformed them into distinctive national flavours. The cold winter climate has also played its part, creating a menu that is hearty and filling. The typical Polish diet therefore consists of thick soups such as Zurek and Bigos, a sauerkraut-based stew. A combination of meat is a particular favourite and is usually accompanied by the other staples of Polish cuisine like root vegetables, bread or dumplings.

Weranda

Weranda boasts a beautiful outdoor veranda and terrace during the hot summer days, but during the colder times of the year, the dimly lit and intimate decoration and vibe inside are lovely. It is a popular place at any hour of the day, for a tasty lunch, an afternoon coffee, or late night drinks. The thin crust pizza comes highly recommended.

Market Square

The market square, which is the beating heart of the old quarter, and the streets leading off it, are home to numerous small shops and boutiques where you can find a wealth of handcrafted items. The pedestrianized streets of ul. 3 Maja, Kościuszki and Grunwaldzka are particularly pleasant areas to do some shopping whilst taking in the grandeur of the 17th century burghers' houses.

Airport

Rzeszów-Jasionka Airport (RZE) is located about 10 kilometres from the city centre. The city's public transportation system (run by MPK) has connections to the airport via bus lines 51 and 53. The journey takes approximately 30 minutes, and tickets can be bought directly from the driver. Taxis are always available in front of the terminal, and the trip to the city should take about 15-20 minutes.

Public transport

The centre of Rzeszow can easily be explored on foot. You can also rent a bike from one of the bike stands, since the city has a pretty well developed bike path system.

There are regular bus services operating to the newer part of town and the suburbs. Tickets can be bought for single use, one hour or a full day at machines or directly from the driver. Please note that these are regular fares and that the buses have specific rules regarding time limit and bus zones. Line 0 does a loop of the city passing all the major landmarks. The bus departs and terminates at the railway station.
